The image contains a diagram outlining the process for patients with symptoms of COVID-19. The diagram is too complex to transcribe into plain text, but it includes flowchart steps for patient care, including patient isolation precautions, specimen collection, and testing procedures. The diagram also highlights the need for follow-up and transition to next steps based on test results.